

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0044] A method of improving a design of an electronic circuit includes generating the design, specifying one or more pipeline locations of the design, modifying the one or more pipeline locations of the design, and communicating the results to a user.